

Saturday, June 26 ~ 10:00 - 11:30 am

Family Heirloom Preservation Workshop

The Family Heirloom Preservation Workshop is a must-attend event for those who desire expert advice on how to best preserve antiques and heirlooms from textiles to ceramics, paper documents to furniture, and more. Explore practical, low-cost, and accessible preservation solutions through an engaging presentation, group discussion, and hands-on demonstrations led by collections care expert, Nicolette B. Meister. Admission is free!

1490 Agency House Road, Portage, WI 53901

agencyhouse.org/events

Nicolette B. Meister is the James E. Lockwood Jr. Director of the Logan Museum of Anthropology at Beloit College where she is also an instructor in the Museum Studies Program. In addition, she serves as Faculty Director of the Center for Collections Care at Beloit College, a professional development collections care training program. Nicolette also currently serves as Vice President of the Board of Trustees at the Beloit Historical Society. She holds a BA in anthropology from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and a MS in Museum and Field Studies from the University of Colorado-Boulder.

Sponsored by The Antiquarian Society of Wisconsin in memory of Olive "Cissy" Bryson